

ABSTRACT

It is an object of the present invention to provide a sustained release pheromone formulation, which is not affected by the air temperature, is able to release a sex pheromone at a constant rate, does not require troublesome recovery after use, and does not pollute the environment. The present invention provides a sustained release pheromone formulation characterized by comprising a pheromone contained in a crystalline mineral.